Live video footage will be available on the ground via a large LED truck and will include the sponsor's logo on the screen. The jump will also appear on Facebook Live and include the sponsor's logo.

Post event, there will be an edited version of the video that can be repurposed as promotional material. We have invited the local media to attend this portion of the event as well.

We have been in touch with several local news stations who have confirmed that they will be in attendance to film this portion of the event and broadcast it on the news.

When attendees arrive at the venue, the Ravens Marching Band will be playing out in the parking lot, while drinks are served in the viewing area. Once the jumpers have landed, the band will lead guests into the venue for the duration of the event.

Excited crowds watch as participants uncover hidden talents, exploring their artistic side while they design on a blank canvas or draw on a branded, premade template.

Sure to keep and use their creation, guests will engage with your brand well past the day of your event.

HOW IT WORKS

Guests begin their work on a touch screen monitor.

The canvas is up to you: blank for freestyle drawing, a branded template to color-by-number, or any other idea that helps tell your story. Whatever you decide for a canvas, guests will use it for their design.

Onsite staff will guide guests through the process and, once finished, the creation will be instantly printed and heat-pressed onto a promotional giveaway of your choosing.

From tote bags to coffee mugs, it's a great chance to make something fun and long-lasting. The cherished takeaways are incredible reminders of the experience and your brand as guests show them off to the excited crowd as well as family and friends.

CUSTOMIZATIONS

The design template is fully customizable by you: include prompts for people to answer, create outlines to color in, put your logo on a blank canvas to let people draw freely, design custom digital stickers to utilize, and more! The memorabilia is chosen by you so you can send guests home with something that relates to your brand and activation. These customizable options make it easy to cater to a variety of demographics, ensuring appeal across a wide spectrum
